The Board of Lincoln County Commissioners met at 9:00 a.m. on March 6, 2025. Chairman Wayne Ewing, commissioners Robert Safranek and Terry Jaques, county administrator Jacob Piper, and clerk of the Board Corinne M. Lengel attended.

Lincoln Health CEO Kevin Stansbury was there when Chairman Ewing called the meeting to order. Mr. Ewing asked Mrs. Lengel to lead the Pledge of Allegiance, after which he said a short prayer.

Mr. Stansbury provided the December and January financials, noting the hospital continued to see a significant increase in contractual write-offs. He felt the December report reflected 2024 as “a decent year” and said 2023 Cost Report Adjustments would improve 2024 financial results by approximately $900,000. While January showed substantial revenue, they are trying to control cash and increase expense control via OT, new positions, contract services, and contractual allowance management.

Mr. Stansbury mentioned negotiations with Anthem, stating the company pays less than Medicaid or Medicare. Working with a new consultant will help determine what Anthem pays all critical access hospitals statewide; they will create a survey and then prepare a proposal. The results could mean over a million dollars returned to Lincoln Health. Mr. Stansbury said they don’t want Anthem to overpay, which isn’t good for the community, but neither do they want the company to underpay; they prefer somewhere in the middle.

Mr. Stansbury asked the commissioners to attend a meeting with Anthem representatives at 1:00 p.m. on March 31 to discuss the issue. He noted they were prepared to cancel their contract with Anthem if necessary. Mr. Jaques commented that they would need to post the meeting if all three commissioners attended.

Mr. Piper asked if the County Health Pool could help; Mr. Stansbury said it might if the CHP broker were willing to try.

The group briefly discussed the new hospital site and options for the current hospital when they moved out. Mr. Stansbury said they would have to demolish it because of asbestos, but giving the land back to the town might be the most beneficial. Mr. Jaques wanted to know if the new facility price tag included the demolition of the old one; Mr. Stansbury said it did.

Mr. Jaques asked about the nursing home; Mr. Stansbury said they had notified all resident families that they were relicensing the services.

Mr. Stansbury mentioned proposed legislation, particularly the Safety Net bill and COPA (Certificate of Public Advantage) laws, which allows mergers of certain hospitals to receive immunity from claims of state antitrust laws for the duration of the certificate. Specifically, hospitals eligible for the COPA must be in a predominately rural county. Mr. Stansbury said there was a push to add private, not-for-profit hospitals, and if passed, every independent hospital in the state would have the opportunity. He also touched briefly on 340B and a rural capital needs study.

Mr. Ewing asked Mr. Stansbury why the hospital had canceled two of the meetings scheduled with DHS. Mr. Stansbury said things were much better between the two entities now, which was why they had felt comfortable canceling.

Mr. Stansbury informed the Board that Balanced Rock Power contacted him and pledged another $100,000 to the hospital building fund; Mr. Jaques said that if they spread the word about the building fund, they might be surprised by the response and contributions.

Mr. Stansbury left, and the Board met with County Attorney Kelly Lowery at 9:40 a.m. via Teams. She wanted to know if Mr. Piper had prepared the CDOT and moratorium resolutions, which he had. Miss Lowery heard from Xcel Energy yesterday and continued reviewing its changes and working on a case approach since Mr. Ewing was the only remaining board member who approved the original minutes and resolution. She noted she would wrap it up and submit it to the courts, starting the 28-day waiting period.

Miss Lowery found the Bovina Cemetery documentation but had not had time to review it yet. She also talked to the Mountain View Electric Association attorney about an agreement for using the county's fuel.

Regarding the assessor's BOE appeal hearing in May, Miss Lowery asked how the commissioners wanted her to handle her time. Did they want her to meet with the assessor and his staff in person or via Zoom or Teams, saving the travel costs? She noted that the county typically loses appeals cases and wanted to defer to whoever was most knowledgeable. Mr. Ewing said meeting via Zoom or Teams was fine; Miss Lowery said she would attend the hearing in Denver.

Mr. Ewing said the commissioners would discuss the resolutions later in the agenda; Miss Lowery had nothing further and disconnected.

Mr. Jaques moved to approve the meeting minutes for February 27, 2025. Mr. Safranek seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

The Board reviewed the employee timesheets for the administrator, land use administrator, landfill manager, weed control coordinator, emergency manager, IT director, and public health director.

At 10:00 a.m., Bill Noyce and Robert Vance with Cetera Advisor Network, LLC, met with the Board to discuss the Lincoln County Pension Plan investments. Mr. Noyce provided a little history; he started with the county in the 80s when it invested around $900,000. When the market tanked in 2008, the county commissioners allowed employees to withdraw early from the plan, which was great for the employees but almost destroyed the account. Since then, they have worked to build it back, shooting for $5 million. Mr. Piper noted that the liability on the plan has grown, and it now needs closer to $6 million; Mr. Noyce said it was at $3,542,661 today. Even though the market has been down this year, SEI Strategies has skillfully managed the accounts and made money.

Mr. Noyce explained that the Plan monies fall into three investment buckets: conservative, moderate, and growth. They had wanted to maintain $750,000 in each of the first two buckets to draw from in case the market continued declining, but they changed that goal to $828,000 based on monthly withdrawals. So far, the buckets have been up 2.26, 2.74, and 3.14, respectively. Last year's performance was 4.86, 5.46, and 9.73.

Mr. Vance said they use SEI for several reasons: it is an enormous company with an excellent investment approach, and its processes haven't changed since its inception. Mr. Vance noted that SEI holds assets in a private trust company, meaning all Lincoln County Pension Plan assets are in that name, which is hard to place a value on. Mr. Vance called SEI a "manager of managers;" they interview and hand-pick the best. He also explained that they could invest in more growth-oriented platforms, but since it's a pension plan that must sustain monthly withdrawals, it requires a unique way of investing.

When Mr. Ewing asked about the market, Mr. Vance said it's long-term; the stock market doesn't care who is in office and will steadily increase.

Mr. Noyce said the conservative bucket is around $476,000, so when the market goes up, he will pull money from the growth bucket and "refill it," hoping to reach the $828,000 goal.

Mr. Jaques wanted to know how underfunded the Plan was. Mr. Piper said the liability was about $6.7 million at the end of 2023, but the county paid a lot out that year, dropping the funded liability to 53%. Mr. Jaques asked when the commissioners would meet with them again; Mr. Piper said it would be sometime this summer.

The advisors provided fact sheets for the SEI U.S. Focused Equity Strategy, the SEI Moderate Conservative Strategy, and the SEI U.S. Focused Growth Strategy – Factor. The moderate conservative investment strategy allocates approximately 80% of its assets to equity funds and 20% to fixed-income funds. Mr. Vance explained that the 80/20 exposure makes sense, although it wouldn't hurt to increase the third bucket slightly.

Mr. Piper said he would be more comfortable with a fully funded plan, and Mr. Jaques and Mr. Ewing noted they didn't want to risk too much. Mr. Noyce advised moving from dynamic growth to the U.S. Focused Growth Strategy, which seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation that primarily invests in U.S. securities, which have outperformed international for quite a while. He noted that the commissioners typically gave Mr. Piper the authority to move assets on his recommendation. The Board agreed to the same approach, and Mr. Noyce provided the client-compliant paperwork to Mr. Piper.

Lincoln County Veterans Service Officer Joy Johnson arrived at 10:30 a.m.

Mr. Piper told the Board that the county typically paid the $150,000 contribution to the plan early in the year, but with the bridge project sapping the cash, it would likely be sometime in April. He mentioned the GASB report and explained that the county auditor would say the commissioners needed to ensure the plan was 100% funded; Mr. Jaques agreed, stating they needed to get it closer than it was. Another large sales and use tax payment from a new renewable energy project would help. Mr. Ewing suggested reaching out to Balanced Rock Power since Mr. Stansbury said they'd contacted him about a donation for the hospital. Mr. Vance requested advance notice if the county came into a large sum of money, noting they could move things around quickly if necessary. He stated that investing is a slow process of growing assets, so depositing additional funds would be ideal.

Mr. Noyce verified that his and Mr. Vance's tasks were to ensure that the conservative and moderate buckets each contained $828,000 when the market increased and move from Dynamic Growth to the U.S. Focused Growth Strategy—Factor later today or tomorrow. The commissioners thanked Mr. Noyce and Mr. Vance, and the investors left.

Lincoln County Veterans' Services Officer Joy Johnson met with the Board at 10:40 a.m. Using the 2023 Geographic Distribution of VA Expenditures Data, she provided the number of veterans in Lincoln County, the amount of VA expenditures paid to them, the number of approved and denied claims, and other demographics. Mrs. Johnson said she would continue to work with the Restoring Honor Veteran Support and Advocacy Group at the prison and Lincoln Health in 2025. She explained the Community Care Network, noting that although Lincoln Health thought it was in the network, it wasn't until it followed the proper process. The network must accredit each provider at every facility; so far, Natasha Garver is the only provider who qualifies. Mrs. Johnson said Lincoln Health continues to work toward the goal and should be approved to take vets eventually. Mrs. Johnson informed the Board of a few achievements she was particularly proud of: replacing a headstone for a veteran whose stone some vandals destroyed and obtaining a headstone for Joe Will, who rests in the USS Arizona at Pearl Harbor. Mrs. Johnson has received accreditation through the Colorado Division of Veterans Affairs, the National Association of County Veterans Service Officers, and the Disabled American Veterans. Before leaving, Mrs. Johnson said she planned to increase her days in Washington County to two a month.

At 11:00 a.m., Jerry Eurich, with Jerry's Custom Concrete, Inc., met with the Board to discuss potential work on the courthouse parking lot; the group went outside. John Mohan and Chris Monks attended the discussion; Mr. Jaques said they wanted to fix the front lot to avoid ADA issues.

After returning to the meeting room, Mr. Eurich said concrete was currently $230/yard; Mr. Ewing asked if he intended to bid the project by the square foot. Mr. Eurich said he would charge $8.25 a square foot for the concrete, labor, and sidewalk and $35 a lineal foot for the curb and gutter. He needed to wait for warmer weather before starting a sidewalk project in Calhan, so Mr. Eurich felt that starting the parking lot in April wasn't unreasonable. They must allow the concrete to set for a week to ten days before letting anyone drive on it. The group agreed they would have to do it in sections and spent several minutes discussing how best to handle the drainage. Everyone agreed that the priority was to determine the east property line.

Mr. Piper cautioned that funds might not be easily accessible until late spring or early summer because the county hadn't yet received the CDOT payments for the Big Sandy Bridge project. Still, Mr. Ewing and Mr. Jaques wanted to move forward in April, stating they should do it while Mr. Eurich had the time. Also, Mr. Ewing said they wouldn't need the whole amount up front and estimated approximately $250,000 to start. Mr. Eurich and Mr. Monks went out to measure the parking lot and discuss the drainage further.

The Board reviewed the County Veterans Service Officer's monthly report and certification of pay.

Mr. Safranek moved to approve a county credit card with a $1,000 limit for extension office administrative assistant Tiffany Stewart. Mr. Jaques seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

The Board reviewed a request for proposal and qualifications for the design and engineering of the Lincoln County Combined Courts restroom remodel project. Court Clerk Kim Graham agreed with the proposed dates; Mr. Piper said he would advertise in the newspaper and on the county's website. He asked if the commissioners also wanted it in the Mile Saver Shopper and on sites such as BidNetDirect, which they did.

Mr. Jaques moved to post the RFP for the Lincoln County Combined Court's ADA-accessible restroom project. Mr. Safranek seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

The Board reviewed a resolution regarding the devolution and transfer of CDOT property known as County Road T and County Road 19. Mr. Jaques moved to adopt the resolution, and Mr. Safranek seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

WHEREAS Lincoln County, Colorado (the “County”) is a statutory county in Colorado and a political subdivision; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Colorado Revised Statutes (“C.R.S.”) § 30-11-101 et seq., the County’s Board of County Commissioners (the “Board”) is authorized to adopt and enforce ordinances and resolutions regarding health, safety, and welfare issues as otherwise proscribed by law; and

WHEREAS Colorado State Highway 71 (“Hwy 71”) is a principal highway for and within the County; and

WHEREAS Hwy 71 was re-aligned in 1988, and sections of the roadway are no longer used by CDOT, but may provide benefit to Lincoln County for localized transportation purposes; and

WHEREAS, representatives from the Colorado Department of Transportation (“CDOT”) and the County have reviewed such portions of former Hwy 71 and deemed it is in both parties’ best interests for the County to enter into an intergovernmental agreement (“IGA”) with CDOT to formalize the devolution of such portions of Hwy 71 that no longer, serve the ongoing purpose of the Colorado State Highway System and for the County to assume, if not already done, the obligations related to such devolved portions of Hwy 71; and

WHEREAS such portions of the former Hwy 71 are better reflected as follows;

Such portion right-of-way as stated in 2700 book 27 (104873) and right-of-way 1348 book 13, Lincoln County, Colorado (the “Devolved Property” or also known as County Road T and County Road 19)

WHEREAS the parties agree that any and all necessary actions between the County, CDOT and in relation to necessary approvals from the State Land Board shall be taken, including but not limited to the payment of application fees and surveys, to formalize this devolution process for the Devolved Property; and

WHEREAS, to effectuate the foregoing, CDOT and the County agree to execute the aforementioned IGA; and

1. The County hereby makes the affirmations stated in the recitals set forth above.
2. The County and CDOT agree to engage in negotiations and take all necessary actions to enter into a mutually acceptable IGA, receive any necessary approval by the State Land Board, conduct any surveys, and pay any permits to finalize the devolution of the Devolved Property.
3. This Resolution shall be effective as of the date of its adoption.

Mr. Ewing noted they needed to determine whether the rights-of-way were state or county; Mr. Piper felt they were county if they were becoming county roads. Mr. Safranek thought the culvert exceeded the county's right-of-way.

The Board reviewed a proposed resolution to impose a moratorium on accepting applications for residential development permits. Mr. Jaques moved to adopt the resolution, and Mr. Safranek seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

Clerk of the Board

Mr. Jaques reported calling Steve Sitton and providing a status report after the February 27 commissioner meeting. He also informed Joe Kiely that he would serve as the local representative on the Ports-to-Plains board. Mr. Jaques met with Stella Florek from the Safari Motel to ask if she was willing to serve on the Tourism board, but after a lengthy discussion, she declined. Mr. Jaques received notice on March 3 that they canceled the March 4 Republican River meeting; they would reschedule for a later date. On March 5, Mr. Jaques attended a fundraising meeting for the LCF Seminary program at the Lone Tree Golf Club. He also attended the East Central COG meeting at the senior center, where Candace Payne gave new board members an overview of the programs and budget. Mr. Jaques and Kit Carson County Commissioner Dave Hornung agreed to serve on the Renewable Energy Impact study committee, representing this region for the next 12 months. Mr. Jaques reported receiving notice that additional FEMA funds might be available from the storms two years ago and suggested looking into it.

Mr. Safranek spoke with Judd Kravig on March 3 about sending graders and trucks home with road crew members in anticipation of the forecasted blizzard. While the snowstorm didn't happen, it produced a lot of wind that ruined numerous trees and scoured a lot of gravel off county roads. Mr. Safranek toured those roads on March 5 and found many east/west roads drifted over with sand. He noted it would take a lot of work to remove it. District 3 crew members picked up the repaired Mack truck and worked on signs.

Mr. Ewing and Chris Monks discussed the Martin Marietta asphalt bid on February 28. District 1 crew members worked on the roads north of the Genoa shop. Mr. Ewing talked to Land Use Administrator Ty Stogsdill about the nuisance letter. Mr. Ewing checked roads on March 1; he had a lengthy discussion with a landowner about them. He also spoke with some employees about the time change and relationships among crew members. Mr. Ewing met with the road crew on March 3; they discussed roads, daylight saving time, accountability, and teamwork. He learned they had canceled the ETPR meeting until March 11, which will be virtual. The commissioners authorized a two-hour delay for courthouse/annex personnel on March 4 due to possible blizzard conditions. It was nothing more than wind, but the courthouse lost power until almost 11:00 a.m. The District 1 crew had to clean out a ditch that filled in—they had many others to clean out, too. On March 5, Mr. Ewing and Chris Monks discussed a fire in the oil fields by the Forristall Ranch; they sent a blade to assist. Mr. Ewing talked to Allen Chubbuck about daily cover dirt at the landfill; he authorized Mr. Chubbuck to contact the engineer to determine how to proceed.

Mr. Piper reported that the county could only spend the Conservation Trust Fund money on recreation-related items, such as fairgrounds improvements. The state started auditing the expenditures last year and picked the 2023 lighting project. He and County Treasurer Ashley Erwin finally got the fund to balance after years of inaccuracy; Mr. Piper noted it should be fine in the future.

Mr. Ewing asked if they could use Conservation Trust funds to replace the furnaces and AC units in the Ellis Allen building; Mr. Piper offered to check.

The Board reviewed a $12,171.65 quote from Complete Wireless Technologies to replace the County Road 2T repeater and a draft letter from Land Use Administrator Ty Stogsdill to a resident regarding zoning regulations.

Mr. Safranek moved to send the letter to the resident regarding the county's zoning regulations. Mr. Jaques seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

Mr. Piper reported receiving an email from CDOT approving the county's half-million-dollar RFR for the Bridge project. He also received an email from CTSI Executive Director Meredith Burcham requesting a commissioner appointment on the County Health Pool Board of Directors. Mr. Jaques said he would like to know the expectations and meeting frequency before committing; Mr. Piper thought having someone on the board would be beneficial.

Chris Monks returned at 12:35 p.m. for the 1:00 p.m. CDOT meeting. He said that while he and Mr. Eurich didn't measure the parking lot, they realized there could be issues with the city sewer line, fiber optic phone lines, and the natural gas line regarding the drainage. He said they needed a plan before going any further. Mr. Safranek suggested a channel drain, which would require more maintenance but might be a better option. Mr. Jaques noted that they would have it surveyed if necessary.

At 1:00 p.m., the commissioners, Mr. Piper and Mr. Monks listened to a CDOT pre-con Zoom call regarding bridge preventative maintenance and repair projects while they approved the February expenses. Mrs. Lengel left.
